To the Board of Directors
New Hope for Youth

We have audited the accompanying financial statements of New Hope for Youth which comprise the statement of financial position as of June 30, 2019, and the related statements of activities and changes in net assets, functional expenses and cash flows for the year then ended, and the related notes to the financial statements.

Management's Responsibility for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of these financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States. This includes the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Auditor's Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal control relevant to the entity's preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity's internal control. Accordingly, we express no such opinion. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Opinion

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of New Hope for Youth as of June 30, 2019, and the changes in its net assets and its cash flows for the year then ended in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States.

Report on Summarized Comparative Information

We have previously audited New Hope for Youth's June 30, 2018 financial statements and, in our report dated March 1, 2019, we expressed an unmodified opinion on those financial statements. In our opinion, the summarized comparative information presented herein as of and for the year ended June 30, 2018, is consistent, in all material respects, with the audited financial statements from which it has been derived.

Note 2 – Summary of significant accounting policies

Basis of accounting

The accompanying financial statements are prepared on the accrual basis of accounting in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States. Note 2 – Summary of significant accounting policies

Recent pronouncements

Effective July 1, 2017, New Hope for Youth adopted FASB ASU 2016-14 Presentation of Financial Statements of Not for Profit Entities. The new pronouncement changed the presentation of certain information in the financial statements and footnote disclosures.

Basis of presentation

Certain support for the programs of New Hope for Youth may be directed by the donors to specific periods or programs. New Hope for Youth classifies such amounts as revenues and net assets with donor restrictions in the accompanying financial statements. When donor restrictions expire or are otherwise met, New Hope for Youth reclassifies the net assets to those without donor restrictions under the heading “net assets released from donor restrictions” in the statement of activities and changes in net assets.

Cash

Cash consists of cash on hand and on deposit with a commercial bank, available on demand. Amounts on deposit are in interest and non-interest bearing accounts.

Accounts receivable

Accounts receivable, all due within one year, consist of amounts due from grants and contracts.

Allowance for uncollectible receivables

New Hope for Youth uses the allowance method to account for uncollectible receivables. Under this method, New Hope for Youth reviews all receivables for any problems with collectability. If New Hope for Youth feels that there may be a problem with collections, an allowance is provided for the receivable. When attempts to collect a specific receivable are unsuccessful, the account is considered uncollectible and is written off against the allowance. As of June 30, 2019, New Hope for Youth concluded that an allowance for doubtful accounts was not necessary.

Property and equipment

Property and equipment consist of two vehicles. New Hope for Youth capitalizes purchased and donated property and equipment at cost and fair value, respectively, when such cost or fair value exceeds $5,000. Maintenance and repair costs are expensed as incurred. New Hope for Youth depreciates property and equipment using the straight-line method over the estimated useful lives of the property and equipment. The estimated useful life of each of the vehicles is five years.

Deferred revenue

Deferred revenue consists of amounts advanced or drawn down under fee for service contracts that exceed revenue earned.

Revenue recognition

Government grants and contracts are conditional cost-reimbursement contracts. New Hope for Youth does not recognize support from these contracts until it fulfills the conditions, generally by expending costs and performing services to accomplish the requirements of the contracts.

School services are fee for service cost-reimbursement contracts. New Hope for Youth recognizes revenues from cost-reimbursement contracts when incurring the related expenses.

Income taxes

Financial statement presentation follows the recommendations of the Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB) in its Interpretation Number 48 (FIN 48), "Accounting for Uncertainty in Income Taxes", an interpretation of FASB Accounting Standards Codification (ASC) 740. Under FIN 48, New Hope for Youth is required to report information regarding its exposure to various tax positions taken by New Hope for Youth and requires a two-step process that separates recognition from measurement. The first step is determining whether a tax position has met the recognition threshold; the second step is measuring a tax position that meets the recognition threshold.

Management believes that New Hope for Youth has adequately addressed all tax positions and that there are no unrecorded tax liabilities. Tax years 2016 to 2018 are open for examination by the Internal Revenue Service and years 2015 to 2018 by the California Franchise Tax Board.

Governmental authorities have informed New Hope for Youth that it is exempt from income taxes under section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code (IRC) and section 23701d of the California Revenue and Taxation Code. Additionally, governmental authorities have classified New Hope for Youth as an organization that is not a private foundation under IRC section 509(a)(1) and 170(b)(1)(A)(vi). Consequently, donors are entitled to the highest charitable income tax deduction allowed by law. The management of New Hope for Youth believes that no activities of New Hope for Youth jeopardized its exemption from income taxes or its classification as a “public charity.” Consequently, New Hope for Youth provided no income tax provision herein.

Allocation of functional expenses

Functional expenses of New Hope for Youth include program and supporting expenses. Supporting expenses include management and general and fundraising. New Hope for Youth records expenses that directly benefit an activity to that specific activity. New Hope for Youth allocates expenses that do not directly benefit an activity between program and supporting based on estimates of the relative benefits to each. New Hope for Youth bases its estimates on either time spent by personnel on various activities or space used by various activities, whichever New Hope for Youth deems more relevant to the particular expense. The management of New Hope for Youth reviews and adjusts the estimates and bases at least annually.

Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting standards generally accepted in the United States requires the management of New Hope for Youth to make estimates and assumptions that affect certain amounts and disclosures reported herein. Although New Hope for Youth bases estimates on its knowledge of current events and plans for the future, actual results may vary from estimates.

Comparative totals

The financial statements include certain prior-year summarized comparative information in total but not by net asset class. Such information does not include sufficient detail to constitute a presentation in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States. Accordingly, such information should be read in conjunction with the audited financial statements for the year ended June 30, 2018, from which the summarized information was derived.

Subsequent events

New Hope for Youth evaluated subsequent events for recognition and disclosure through December 13, 2019, the date on which these financial statements were available to be issued. Management concluded that no material subsequent events have occurred since June 30, 2019 that required recognition or disclosure in such financial statements.

Note 3 – Accounts receivable

Accounts receivables as of June 30, 2019 consisted of $116,324 due from the City of San Jose and $31,981 due from the County of Santa Clara.

Note 4 – Deferred revenue

Deferred revenue as of June 30, 2019 consisted of amounts received in advance on two contracts with the City of San Jose.

Note 5 – Concentrations, credit and market risk

Accounts receivable are subject to collection risk. Collection risk is the probability that the financial condition or other circumstances of a grantor or contractor may change, reducing or eliminating the subsequent collection of accounts receivable.

Revenue and support from the City of San Jose totaled 64% and from the County of Santa Clara totaled 13% of total revenue and support received for the year ended June 30, 2019. A significant reduction in this level of revenue and support, if this were to occur, could have an adverse impact on the extent of the activities of New Hope for Youth.

Note 6 – Commitments and contingencies

New Hope for Youth leases office space in San Jose, California on a month to month basis. Rent expense for the year ended June 30, 2019 was $6,270.

New Hope for Youth
Notes to Financial Statements
June 30, 2019

Note 6 – Commitments and contingencies (continued)

New Hope for Youth has received support that may be subject to audit or review by the grantor agencies. Management believes that New Hope for Youth has complied with all aspects of the grant provisions and that disallowed costs, if any, would be insignificant to the financial position of New Hope for Youth.

Note 7 – Liquidity and availability of financial assets

The following reflects New Hope for Youth's financial assets as of June 30, 2019 available to meet cash needs for general expenditures within one year from June 30, 2019:

Cash	$ 433,717
Accounts receivable	148,305
Total	$ 582,022
